

Managing Remote Teams

a workshop with Luca Dellanna

Summary: managing remote or hybrid teams, it's more critical than ever to delegate clearly, provide frequent feedback, and build trust. Otherwise, misunderstandings and disengagement build up hidden below the surface, until they result in inefficiency, ineffectiveness, and employee turnover.

In this three-hour workshop, Luca will make its participants more effective remote managers.

Step 1: Clarity

It's hard to delegate clearly over email or phone calls. Luca will explain and demonstrate a few ways managers can tweak how they're already delegating tasks so that they are clearer – without having to take extra time doing that.

Step 2: Feedback

When working remotely, there's the risk that misunderstandings go undetected for way longer – until they result in mistakes and/or blame being thrown around. Luca will show how managers can prevent that through early feedback.

Step 3: Trust

Working remotely, it's more important than ever that employees trust each other and their manager. Luca will explain a few actionable ways remote managers can build trust with and within their team.

Step 4: Plan and commit

Luca will ask each participant to plan and commit to a few action points from those covered during the workshop to ensure that it will lead to tangible results.
